

Jewish?

Thinking about starting or growing your family?

What you need to know about BRCA and the steps you can take to mitigate your risk of developing cancer and passing it on to your future children

Gerry & Paul Riemer

Morgan & Brian Weinblatt

Liz Etkin-Kramer, MD

Vanessa Weitzman, MD

Monday, March 27th at 7:30 pm EST via Zoom webinar

Join us for an important discussion with two couples who learned they were BRCA positive and the steps they took with respect to their family planning. Joining them will be Dr. Liz Etkin-Kramer, Gynecologist and founder of Yodeah and Dr. Vanessa Weitzman, who specializes in In Vitro Fertilization (IVF). Whether you are planning to start or grow your family, or you know someone who is, this program is for you.

DID YOU KNOW? One in 40 Ashkenazi Jewish men and women carries a BRCA mutation which can lead to a higher risk of breast, ovarian, pancreatic, prostate, and other cancers. There is also a 50% chance of passing this mutation on to the next generation regardless of family history.

IF YOU KNOW, there are proactive measures you can take to mitigate these risks and significantly reduce your chance of developing cancer or identify it at its earliest, most treatable stages.

Knowledge is Power. Knowledge Saves Lives.

Yodeah is a non-profit organization committed to educating the Jewish community about hereditary cancer genetic mutations and providing access to affordable, clinical-grade testing.
